

Liberty Media Corporation to Acquire FUN Technologies Inc.
for GBP 1.75 per Share

TORONTO – November 8, 2007 – FUN Technologies Inc. (“FUN”) (TSX:FUN) (AIM:FUN) today announced that, further to its press release dated October 5, 2007, it has now entered into a definitive arrangement agreement with Liberty Media Corporation (“Liberty”) pursuant to which Liberty will indirectly acquire all of the outstanding common shares of FUN at a price per share of GBP 1.75 payable in cash (without interest). Under the agreement, registered FUN shareholders with Canadian addresses reflected on FUN’s stock ledger will receive the Canadian dollar equivalent of such consideration based on the exchange rate in effect at the close of business on the second business day prior to the completion of the transaction.

The Board of Directors of FUN (with interested directors abstaining from voting) has unanimously approved the transaction and has unanimously determined to recommend that FUN shareholders vote in favour of the transaction.

The transaction will proceed by way of a statutory Plan of Arrangement that must be approved by court order and two-thirds of the votes cast at a special meeting of FUN shareholders. The transaction must also be approved by a majority of votes cast by FUN’s shareholders, other than Liberty and its affiliates. Completion of the transaction will be conditional upon, among other things, obtaining the requisite shareholder and court approvals. Upon completion of the transaction, FUN would become an indirect wholly-owned subsidiary of Liberty.

The proposed transaction is expected to be completed in late December, following receipt of shareholder and court approvals. There can be no assurance that the transaction will be completed on the terms described above or at all. FUN expects to send a proxy circular relating to the transaction to shareholders in or around the end of November. A copy of the arrangement agreement will be filed with the Canadian securities regulators and will be available at www.sedar.com.
